i. Single-authored books:

Citizenship in the Arab World, IMISCOE Research Series (Amsterdam: Amsterdam University Press, 2009)

Citizenship in the Arab World is a book that has become the reference work on citizenship legislation in the region. Not only does it provide a full comparative reading of citizenship regulations, but it also situates matters of citizenship within the historical and ideological developments in the region. It considers both ‘passport’ citizenship (jinsiyya) and constitutional citizenship (muwâtana) in their various articulations and entanglements. The book has a preface by Rainer Bauböck and a foreword by Gerard-René de Groot. It was selected to be included in the EU Network of Excellence IMISCOE’s research series and published by Amsterdam University Press. It is now in open access format.

Dimensioni dell'appartenenza e cittadinanza nel mondo arabo (Naples: Jovene, 2007)

Largely based on my doctoral dissertation, this thick and heavily footnoted book engaging with matters of belonging and citizenship in jurisdictions with Arabic as their official language has been now in use as a teaching text for a number of Islamic and Middle Eastern Law classes in Italy for over ten years.
